The Hanover Troop Elects Captain Hall's Specessor-Fire Near Old Church.

Recespondence of the Richmond Dispatch.)

Ashrand, January 11.—In compliance with General Order No. 71, issued by First Lieutenant M. B. Howard, commanding Troop D, First Virginia cavalry, the officers and men of Hanover I roop assembled in Ashland to-day to elect a captain to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Captain P. H. Hall. Lieutenant-Colenel William J. Wickham presided over the meeting, and Keith Taylor acted assecretary. Third Sergeant William D. Cardwell was elected captain, and in a few appropriate remarks accepted the office. Captain Cardwell is the oidest son of Hon. K. H. Cardwell, and is associated with his father in the practice of law in this county and Richmond. The young commandant has been a member of the troop for several years, and by his close attention to duty and his manly wave in every action has won the esteem and friendship of his comrades. Lieutenants Howard and Neland, as well the members at large, have acted most judiciously in their selection. Several members whose terms of enlistment had expired have re-enlisted for another term of years. One raw recruit was added to the company roll.

OFFICIAL HEADQUARTERS, (Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.)

OFFICIAL HEADQUARTERS OFFICIAL HEADQUARTERS.

Headquarters of the troop were officially established at Ashland-to-day by Colonel G. Fercy Hawes, who, with Major W. Kirk Mathews and the following staff—Captains H. M. Boykin, A. B. Guigon, and Harry B. Owen—was present at the meeting. After some routine business was transacted the officers and men adjourned to the Woodson Hotel, where they found a good country dinner prepared, to which they did full justice.

GREAT PASTOR GONE. MAN NORTH

OR. MILLER, OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, DIES AT CHARLOTTE Itis Profound Religious Character and

Boundless Christianity - Arrangements for the Funeral.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., January 11 .- A pall of dness hangs over the city because of the eath of Rev. A. W. Miller, D. D., pastor of the First Prerbyterian church, which took place at his home yesterday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock. Dr. Miller has been pas-tor of the First Presbyterian church here for thirty-six years. Dr. Miller was a prominent figure in the social and re-l'gious circles of the South, and next to Dr. Falmer, was the highest man in the General Assembly of the Southern Presby-terian Church. So Charlotte's grievous loss is shared in by all the people beneath the southern sun.

HIS CHRISTIAN CHARACTER. HIS CHRISTIAN CHARACTER.

His religion was of a character most deep and profound; his devotion to the cause of Christianity was boundless, and his reverence of his Creator was sublime. He was a great searcher after truth, and was not only eminently versed as a Bible scholar, but as a theologian and historian he had few living equals. A profound thinker, a preacher of great power, his influence was naturally broad and was always exerted for the good of the cause of which he was such a devoted upholder. In his death indeed

"There hath passed away a glory from the carth."

In accordance with the wish of all de-nominations, here his body will lie in state to-morrow, and the funeral will be preach-ed Wednesday by Rev. Edward Mack, of Goldsboro'. The pastors of the different churches in the city will act as pall-bearers. James A. Caston, an aged and highly re-spected citizen of Mecklenburg. died yes-terday at the age of seventy-one.

There is a truce of a week or two in the whiskey fight here, and the dry men are masters of the situation. As has been noted in the Disparce, the county commissioners here have retused to grant license to any applicant thus far. To-day they held a joint meeting with the magistrates to discuss roads and other county matters.

It was understood that the applications of Joe Lindey and O. W. Bager for license to sell whiskey at wholesale would be taken up and disposed of, but by mutual consent their consideration was postponed till the regular February meeting. This leaves Charlotte a dry town for at least three metallocare. three weeks longer.

RAIN AND SLEET.

To-day has been a very wintry day, as it has been raining and sleeting constantly, Limbs of trees are giving way under the great weight, and trouble with the wires is anticipated. Alderman W. F. Buchanan in coming up town this morning slipped on the icy pavement and fell violently, breaking his right leg.

J. D. Ross and Adolphus Bowles, who formerly kept saloons here, were arraigned before Esquire D. G. Maxwell to-day on the charge of selling whiskey to minors. Bowles was bound over to court in two cases on a bond of $50 each. Ross was bound over in one case in a $50 bond. These cases were brought to light when the county commissioners were considerthe county commissioners were consi-ing their applications for license.

WET WEATHER AT WELDON.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] Weldon, N. C., January H.—There was considerable surprise here yesterday when the inhabitants of Weldon awoke to find three inches of snow on the ground and the fleecy flakes still falling thick and fast, three inches of snow on the ground and the fleecy flakes still failing thick and fast. During the day there was rain, hail, and snow, and the weather was about as disagreeable as could well be imagined.

Rev. W. B. Morton, late pastor of the Baptist church here, informed me to-day that he had declined the work to which he was recently elected, secretary of the Sunday-School Board, and that at present he could not state what field he would enter. Mr. Morton accomplished a good work during his ministry here, and will make a most acceptable pastor wherever his lot may be cast.

Miss Lorena Long, of Graham, this State, is visiting friends here.

Miss Kate Prescott is visiting friends in Tarboro'.

BACK-PAY AND LIFE-PENSION. Drove the Mayor's Mule to Death-Confined by the Grippe.

The day before yesterday ex-Mayor A. J. Pritchard hired his mule to one John Robbins, a colored boy, to drive to Lewiston, and Robbins drove the mule so hard that he died on reaching Lewiston, sixteen miles distant. The mule was a very fine traveller and but few horses in this community could make better time on the road.

Drs. E. W. Pugh and H. V. Dunston and many others are confined to their rooms with the grip. Professor Boggs has been quite sick with it, but is now well enough to attend to his duties.

Two hundred and fourteen marriage-licenses have been issued by the register of deeds in the last twelve months.

The ex-Confederate pensions have been reduced since last year. There are only four soldiers and six widows now on the list.

Piscase—Four of the Vets Dead, [Special telegram to the Dispatch.]
RALEIGH, N. C., January 11.—Every inmate of the Confederate Soldiers' Homehere is sick with the grip, some seriously. So far four deaths have occurred in the past few weeks. The dead are John Prince, G. H. Thomas, J. H. Sandiford, and B. M. Coleman. The last-named died yesterday. He was in the Forty-third North Carolina regiment and a native of Cabarras county. He was buried to-day in the Confederate cemetery, very near the Home, and one of the saddest things was that not one of the inmates of the Home was able to attend the funeral, which was conducted by the Confederate veterans. The general sitting-room of the Home has been converted into a temporary hospital. In this and the regular hospital the thirty sick are receiving most careful attention.

Renate—The Congo State.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

Washington, January 11.—The Senate to-day in executive session finally ratified the general act signed at Brussels July 21, 1890, by seventeen Powers, including the United States, for the repression of the African slave trade, and also a convention of commerce and navigation between the United States and the Independent State of Congo, signed at Brussels July 23, 1821. The siave-trade treaty was sent to the Senate by the President nearly a year ago, and but a few weeks remained of the time allowed for the exchange of final ratification. Sixteen of the Powers represented at the Brussels conference had signed the convention many months ago, and the failure of the Senate to act upon the convention until this late day was caused by a reluctance on the part of a number of the senators to recognize the justice of a partition of Africa among the nations of the world. This sentiment was voiced strongly by Senator Chandler when the treaty was under consideration last year, and again at the beginning of this session the introduced a proposed amendment to the pending ratification act disclaiming on the part of the United States any approval of the wisdom, expediency, or lawfulness of protectorates in Africa. There was no substantial objection to the treaty on other grounds, and so it was ratified today, the views of the senators who sided with Mr. Chandler being recognized in the adoption as a part of the ratifying act of the language of Mr. Chandler's amendment.

Ido not entirely agree with some of the leading Democratic statesmen as to reciprocity treaties and arrangements. There are grave objections to them, but I think them better than prohibitory tariffs. And if we cannot enact such revenue-laws as desire. I prefer to see reciprocal arrangesire, I prefer to see reciprocal arrange atts made as far as they can be with any WHY OFFERED AT THIS TIME

"I was further led to offer this resolution just at this particular moment because the Committee on Ways and Means has not yet had time to become entirely organized and get to work on the various propositions which have been submitted to it, and by selecting at this particular juncture this particular provision of the Mckinley act I might concentrate the attention of the country upon it separated from the other provisions of the act. I selected as the reciprocity provision to be reported by the Ways and Means Committee one that had received the anction of a large number, if not, indeed, all of the Democratic Senators in the fifty-first Congress. And while there may be differences of opinion in our party as to the extent to which it is wise to go, there is no difference among us that the provision adopted in the McKinley act ought to be repealed and that some liberal measure could be well enacted in lieu of it."

Mr. Breckinridge's resolution appears to be well received by the majority of the Ways and Means Committee.

"I think very favorably of the proposition of Mr. Breckinridge," said Chairman Springer. "Of course, I cannot say what the committee may decide to do in the matter. I am in favor of reciprocity, but whether I would be willing to go to the extent provided in the articles mentioned in the resolution I cannot say. That question, however, is a mere matter of detail, and does not affect the vital principles embodied in Mr. Breckinridge's resolution."

Notwithstanding the severity of the winter weather, the city was crowded with people from all parts of Ohio and there were large delegations from neighboring States. Not since the national Grand Army encampment of 1888 has Columbus been the theatre of such crowds and such enthusiastic demonstrations. The occasion has been non-partisan, the political friends and toes of Mr. McKinley all joining with the utmost harmony and zeal in the inauguration exerces and parade. Owing to inclement weather, the exercises were held in the Sonate Chamber. Mr. McKinley having just recovered from a severe attack of the grap, it was deemed unwise for him to undergo the exposure attendant upon the customary out-door ceremony.

"Collars and Cuffs" Has a Good Night.

(By Anglo-American cable to the Dispatch.)

London, January 11.—A dispatch from Sandringham, the residence of the Prince of Wales in Noriolkshire, state that the Duke of Clarence and Avondale, the cliest son and heli of the heir apparent, whose illness from influenza and pneumonia has been announced, passed a good night. The present condition of the Duke, the dispatch adds, is favorable. "Collars and Cuffs" Has a Good Night.

Henry Thorne, travelling secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, writes from Exeter Hall, Strand, London, February 1, 1888:

"I desire to bear my testimony to the value of Allcock's Porous Plasters. I have used them for pains in the back and side arising from rheumatic and other causes never without deriving benefit from their application. They are easily applied and very comforting. Those engaged as I am in public work which involves exposure to sudden changes of temperature will do well to keep a supply of Allcock's Porous Plasters in their portmanteaus."

minorous, D. Ci., January 11.—It ecome settled law that witnesses compelled to testify in any crim
there their answers might tend runing is that Judge Grashim's order was erroneous and that Counselman cannot be compelled to testify. It has been said that the effect of the decision by the court that witnesses cannot be compelled to testify will seriously hamper the Interstat Commerce Commission in its administration of the interstate commerce act. The Court's decision was unanimous.

The Mahdl's Death.

[By Angio-American cable to the Dispatch.]

Carro, January 11.—In an interview today with Father Ohrwalder, the priest who was formerly connected with the Austrias Soudan mission, and who recently escaped from the Mahdliste after nine years of captivity, he confirmed the report that the Mahdl was poisoned by a woman whom he had taken in concubinage after killing all of her family. The Mahdl lingered in torment eight days after the poison began to take effect.

The above is a good start for Monday's trading and points to large sales of old brights this week. Holders are rather anxious to be doing something, while yet the situation of old tobacces to grow stronger in all useful, sound brights.

Mr. E. D. Christian, Lorillard's buyer, of New fork, was on the market to-day. Mr. John M. Taylor returned home from Ox-

Mr. John M. Taylor returned home from Oxford this evening.

The T. C. Williams Company's output for 1801 of plug was 3,524,100 pounds, which is in excess of the 1800 sales by 687,000 pounds. As this firm works only Virginia and North Carolina bright and sun-cured tobaccos, they necessarily constitute the greatest factor here and in the State in this high-grade tobacco. They have a constantly-extending business to all foreign lands.

This information is given to show the increase in our trade, not only possible but actual. The American Tobacco Company is reported to have made further acquisitions in the West. Their latest purchase is the rehandling setablishment of Turpin & Woods, in Owensboro, Ky., in the Green-river belt of dark manufacturing plug.
